

Don Looney

Don brings over 30 years Supervisory experience in all phases of Finance and Accounting for the Oil and Gas Industry.

About The Instructor

He is a CPA registered in both Oklahoma and Texas, a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, a past member of the Board of Examiners for the Accredited Petroleum Accountants (APA) Examination and active in COPAS.

Don teaches “Petroleum Accounting: Parts I and II” for PDI as well as, “Revenue Accounting”, “Revenue Auditing”, “Accounting for Producer Imbalances”, “Gas Plant Accounting”, “Gas Plant-Advanced Topics & Statement Analysis”, “SMOG Calculation & Reporting Workshop” and Ethics for Oil & Gas CPAs”.

He also teaches PDI’s week-long, concentrated public National Oil and Gas Revenue Accounting School (NOGRAS) and National Oil & Gas Accounting School (NOGAS). He has taught Petroleum Accounting in many countries around the world, including Ecuador, Trinidad, Angola, Equatorial Guinea, Cyprus and South Africa. He was a contributor to the APA examination and was one of the original full APAs’.

Professional Background

Prior to teaching for PDI, Don spent 25 years with Amerada Hess Corporation in several capacities including as Manger of Revenue Accounting, Manager of General Accounting and Financial Statements, and Manager of Data Processing and Budgeting.

Before joining Amerada Hess, Don was an auditor for Cities Service Corporation. He has been teaching for PDI for over 25 years. He is one of PDI’s top rated instructors and is number one in teaching days each year. When he isn’t traveling for PDI, Don makes his home in Tulsa, Oklahoma.